

Mr. S V Ramana Murthy is currently working as the Additional Deputy Director General, Social Statistics Division, National Statistical Office, Ministry of Programme Implementation, Government of India. The Social statistics division is responsible for coordination of social, environment and multi-domain statistics including SDGs. He spent considerable amount of time in bringing out the Advance and Quarterly estimates of National Income, the service sector estimates and the unorganized sector. He has also worked in the National Commission for enterprises in the unorganized/informal sector (NCEUS) contributing to the definitional and statistical issues. He is a civil servant and belongs to the Indian Statistical service (ISS) of the Government of India. He has more than 35 years of experience in the Government of India holding various positions in the areas of official statistics. During his career he has worked in the field of labour statistics, Industrial worker's consumer price index compilation, the informal/unorganized sector, Input Output tables, Supply Use tables macro modelling and projecting investment requirements for five year plans and the Twelfth Finance Commission. He was also an Asian Productivity Organisation (APO) consultant on a Research Project on Productivity Improvement on Informal sector. He is also one of the coauthors of India's first Human Development Report brought out by the erstwhile Planning Commission.

He has an MS in Statistics from Delhi University and a post graduate diploma in computer applications.